Practice Water Conservation This Summer

In the summer, daily water use in the Comox Valley almost triples from doing things like watering your lawn, garden, and plants. Did you know your lawn only needs one inch of water per week?

There are many ways you can increase your water conservation efforts, from micro-drip irrigation to drought-resistant landscaping. For more information on rebates and tips to reduce your household or property's water consumption, visit: comoxvalleyrd.ca/conservation
